Airport Safety Training Online

Whether you are looking to take fire safety, back safety, WHMIS, TDG or SMS Training; the AMCO Online Training portal is proud to assist with all of your training needs.

Our training center is reliable, accessible, simple and secure. No matter where you may be located or what your availability is, so long as you have an internet connection your training courses and safety compliance are only a few clicks away. Upon completion of training, personalized PDF certificates are granted to your account which can be printed off for immediate use. If for some reason you are required to provide proof of training, all of your training and exam records are stored securely and permanently within your account.

To start your safety and airport training, simply click on the "sign up" button below or browse our course catalog by clicking the "view courses" button.

AMCO Online Training is about Due Diligence. Safety First simply prevents Action Later.

We understand how difficult it can be to send your staff to train on a specific topic, let alone all of the topics they need to be trained on. Sending one of your employees to take an WHMIS course could cost hundreds of dollars, with accommodations, travel, and per diem expenses, however it doesn't have to be this way.

Online training is simple to understand, cheaper than traditional training, and doesn't require you to send your employees anywhere.

Every course on the AMCO Online Training Portal distributes a certificate, as soon as the student reads the material, and passes the course. These PDF certificates can be printed and filed to keep record of the employees training progress.
